". . . in the city lies man's hope.

He will live there and love there and raise his children. He will struggle there and cheat there and learn to be afraid.

He will come there and laugh there and shed his tears."

—James Kavanaugh

Jonathan nodded obediently. He tried to behave like the other gulls; he really tried . . .

screeching and fighting with the flock,

but he couldn't make it work.

It's all so pointless, he thought.

I could be spending all this time learning to fly. There's so much to learn!

If my attention is wandering there is somewhere it wants to go, so obviously it does not want to be where I am holding it in the name of some self-styled obligation.

I hold that the aim of life is to find happiness, which means to find interest . . .

Education should be a preparation for life . . . .

learning how to learn experimentation

—inadequate equations.

Why don't lab manuals record explosions in their preparatory steps?

after all, sometimes the chemicals just don't mix . . .

Emotions are difficult to simulate, especially under "controlled conditions"

mistakes— + EXPLOSIONS!

—leaving too thick a vapor for science to dissolve . . .

The mind is restless, turbulent, strong and unyielding . . . as difficult to subdue as the wind.

Easy Alan-warts are nothing to be ashamed of.

I don't think that tricycle can take all 3 of us.

For my next number, I will sing the Allderdice

Alma Mater, and I'd like everyone to sing along.

All I want to do is taste it.

I thought I had a trick up my sleeve.

We have ways of making people talk.

Psst—Number 1—true Number 2—false Number 3—C

Number 4—a la bibliotheque.

Maybe it's my breath.

"What though the radiance which was once

so bright

Be now forever taken from our sight,

Though nothing can bring back the hour

Of splendor in the grass, of glory in the flower,

We will grieve not, rather find

Strength in what remains behind . . ."

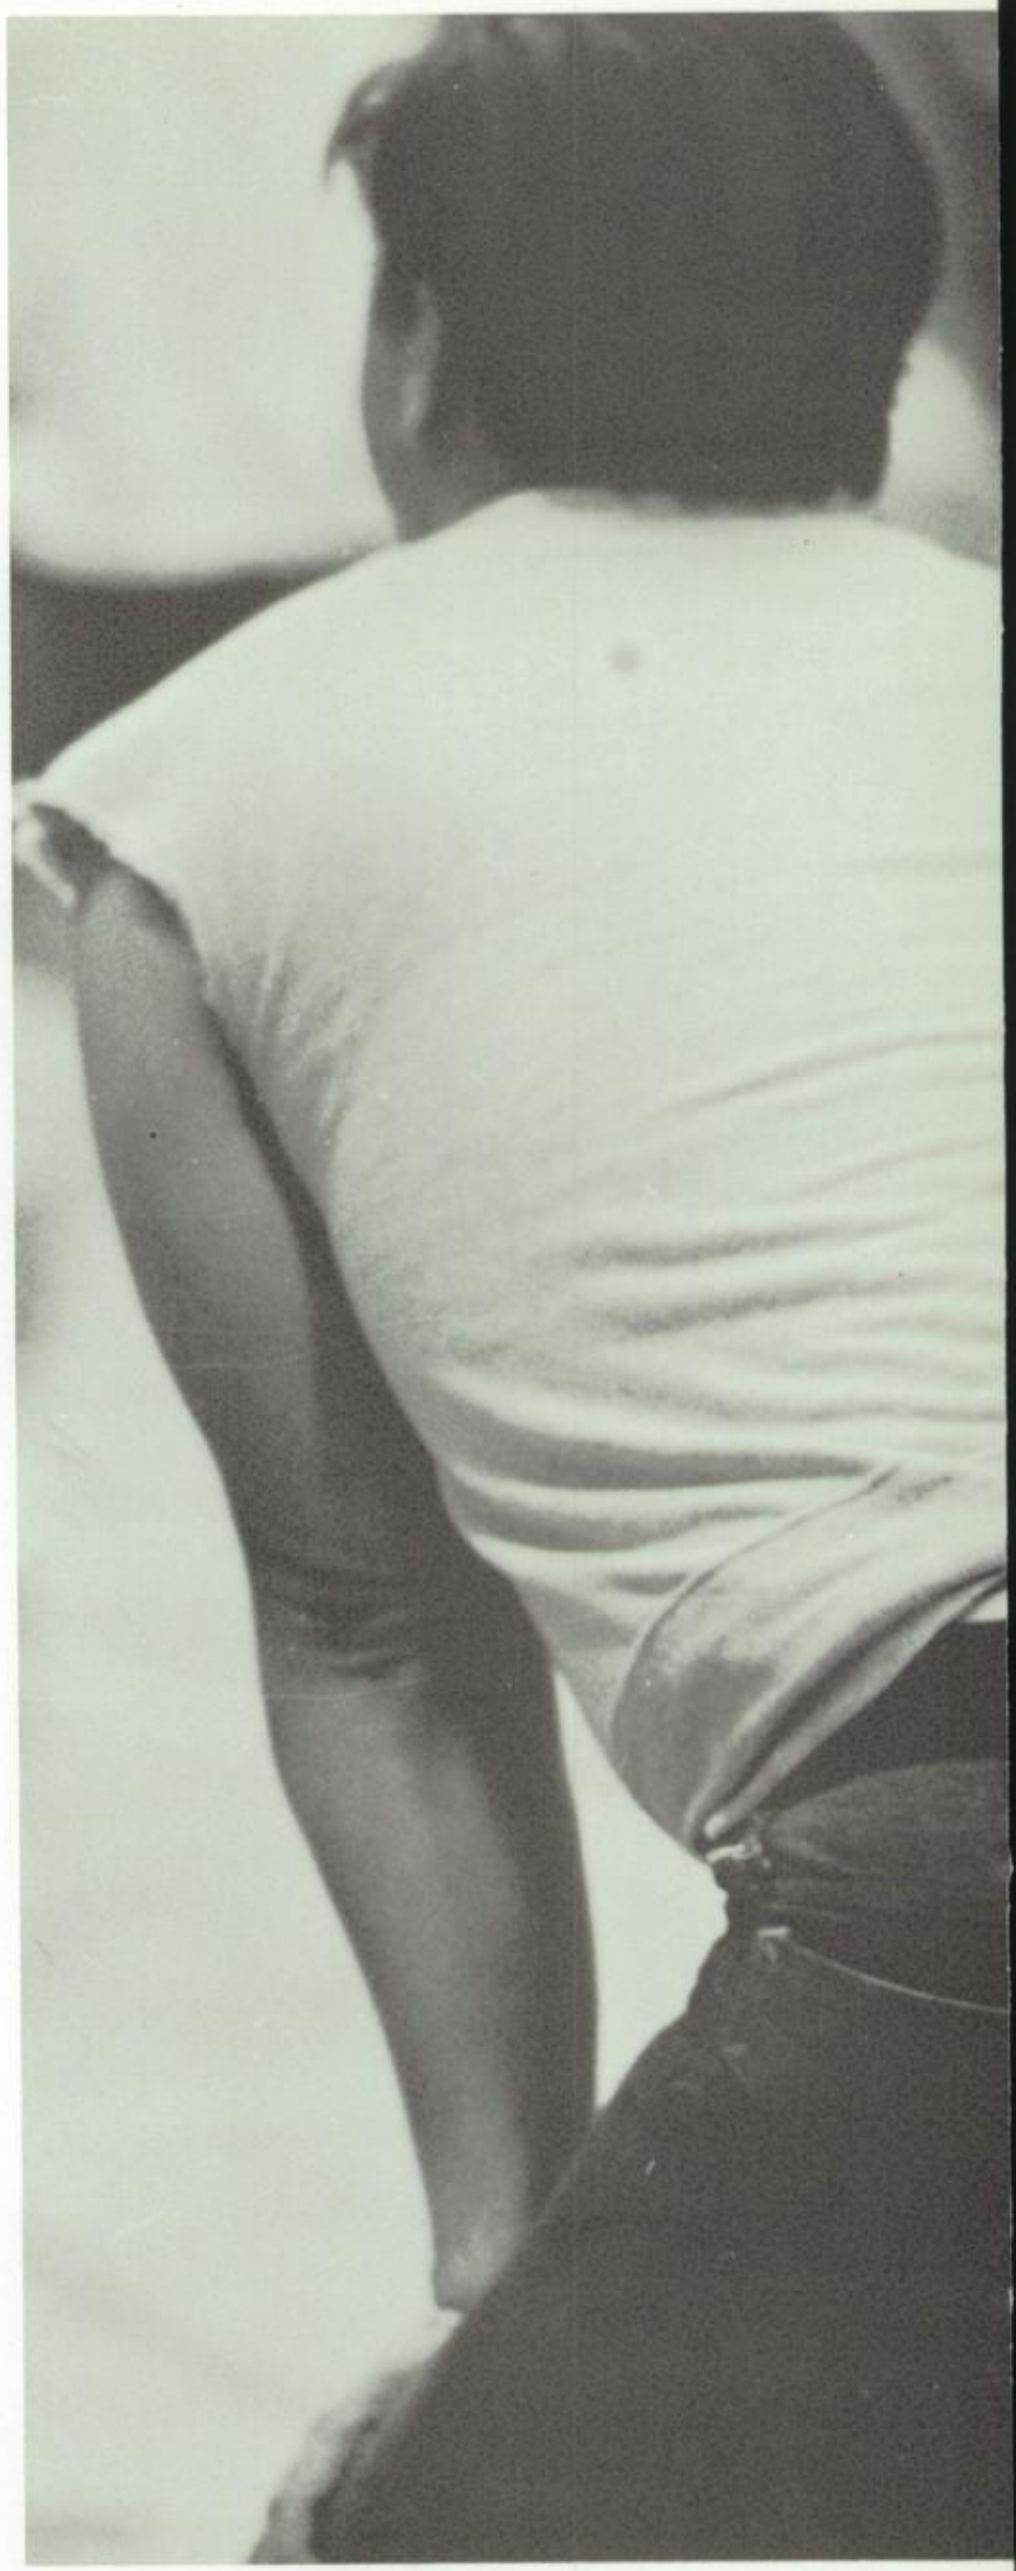
Foreword !

Homecoming



They told me to write about life;

To discover new insights;

To probe my inner soul;

To meditate on my faith;

To reflect on my ideals;

And have it in by Friday.

Today I want to do things to be doing them,

not to be doing something else.

I do not want to do things to sell myself on myself.

I don't want to do nice things for people so that I will be "nice."

I don't want to work to make money,

I want to work to work.

I did not want to go.
They inducted me.
I did not want to die.
They called me yellow.
I tried to run away.
They courtmartialed me.
I did not shoot.
They said I had no guts.
They ordered the attack.
A shrapnel tore my guts.
I cried in pain.
They carried me to safety.
In safety I died.
They blew taps over me.
They crossed out my name and buried me under a cross.

They made a speech in my hometown.
I was unable to call them liars.
They said I gave my life.
They had struggled to keep it.
They said I set an example.
I had tried to run.
They said they were proud of me.
I had been ashamed of them.
They said my mother should be proud.
My mother cried.
I wanted to live.
They called me a coward.
I died a coward.
They called me a hero.

To remember those who were killed, wounded,
and those missing in action

what is the sound of a rushing year rushing through the brain and past the ear

bending down the corridors of the heart

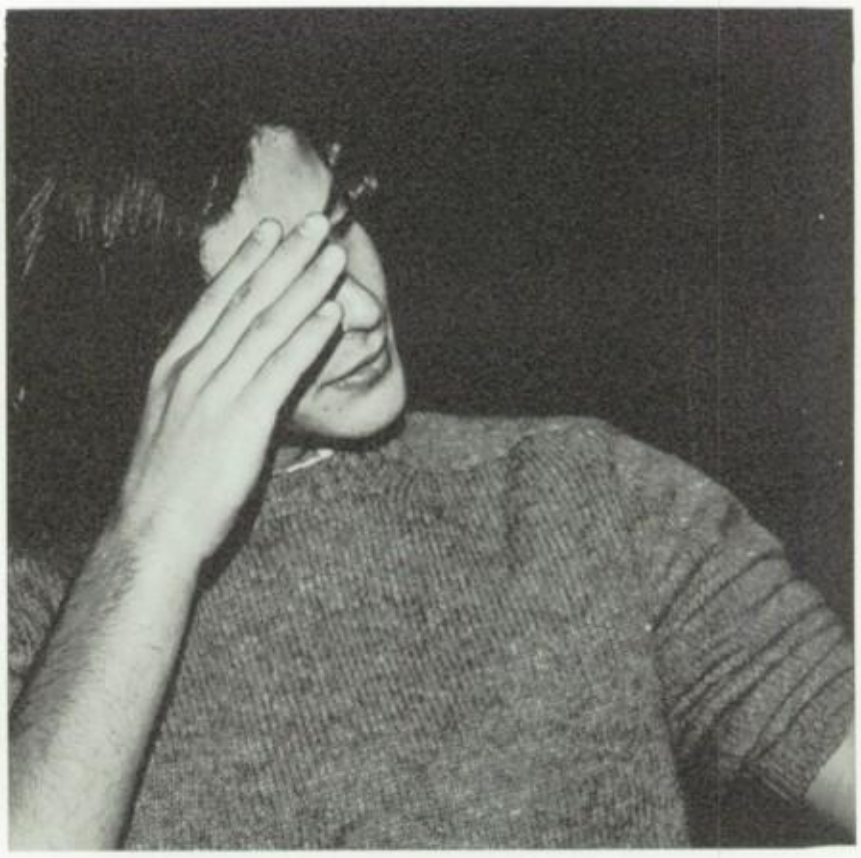
BOYS

KID



Do I avoid looking a stranger in the eyes

because I don't want to make him uncomfortable, or do I turn my eyes

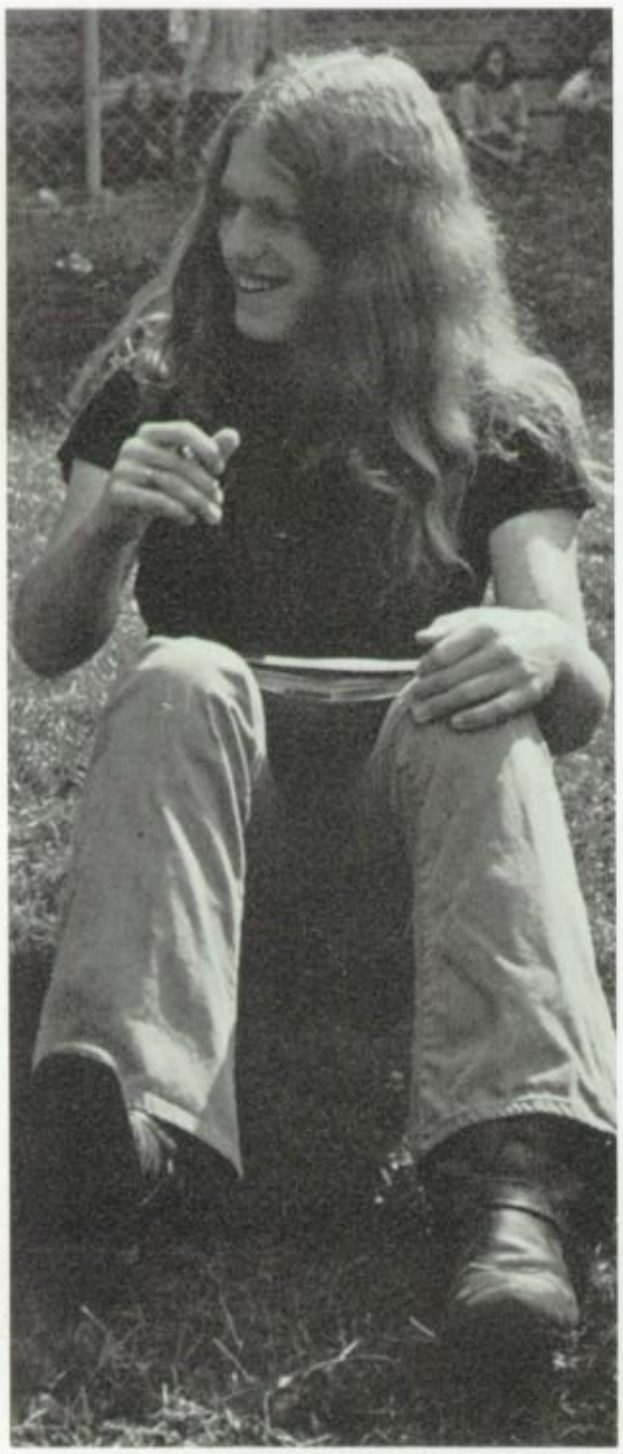
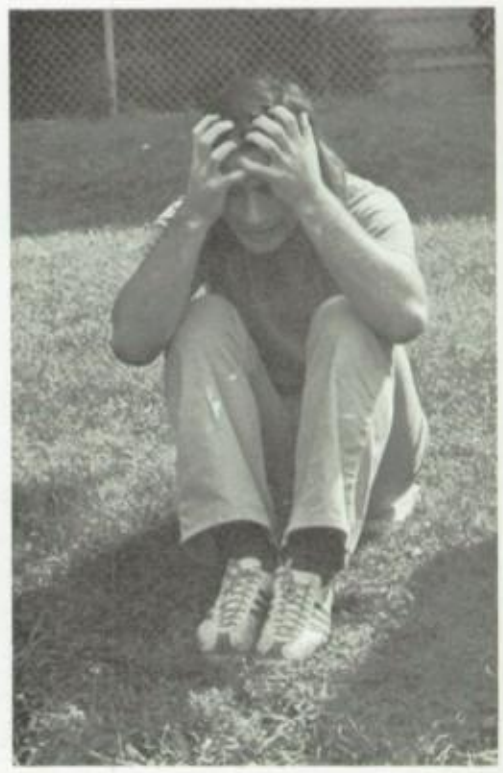
so he can't look into me?





What is there in me that I don't want him to see?

Just as a bird that flies about

And beats itself against the cage

Finding at last no passage out,

It sits and sings, and so overcomes its rage.

"To be nobody—but yourself in a world which is doing it's best, night and day,

to make you everybody else—"

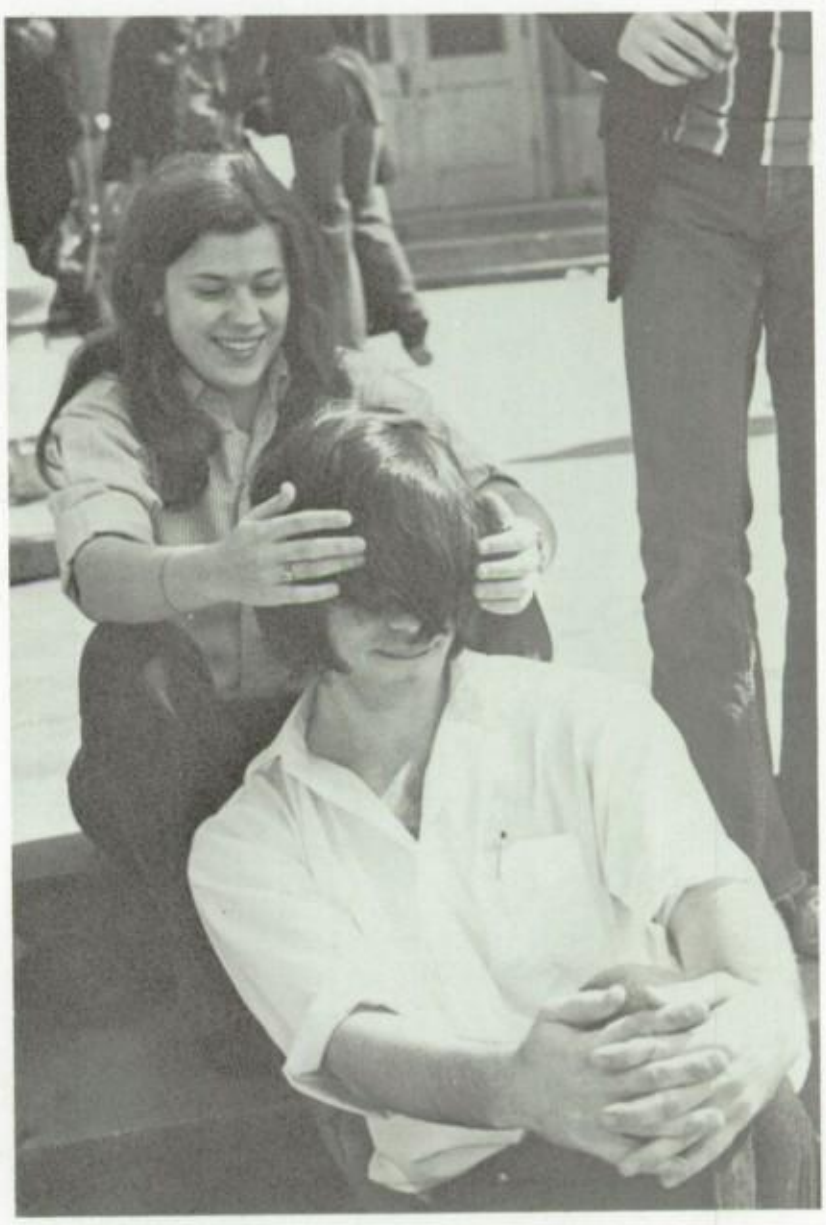
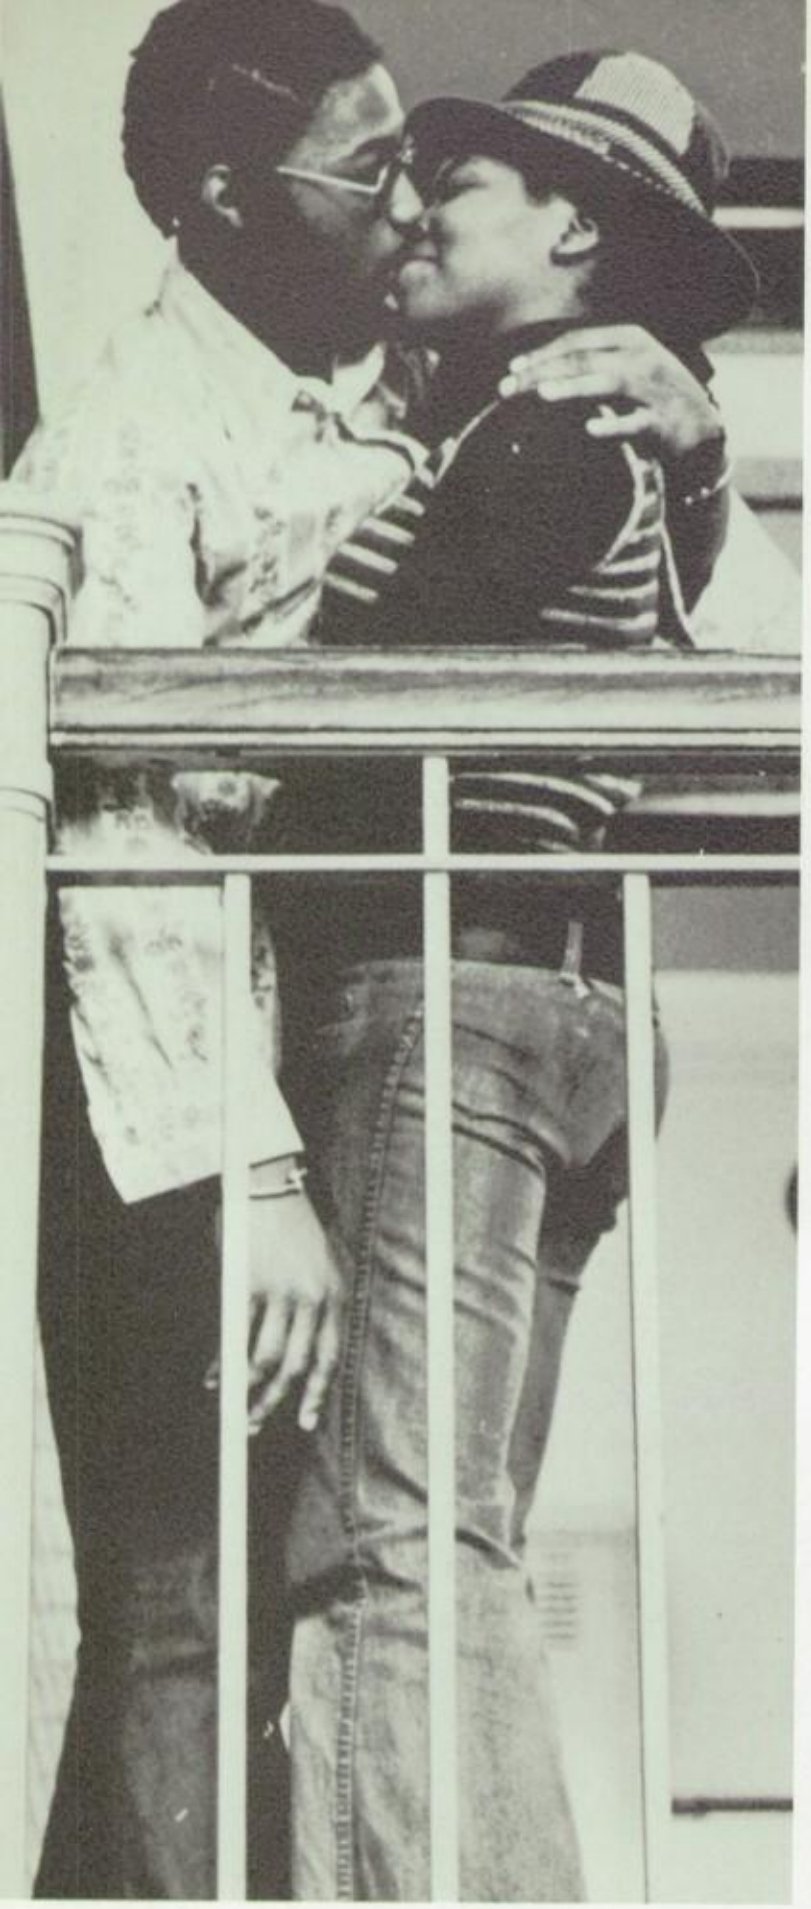
I hope you find a friend

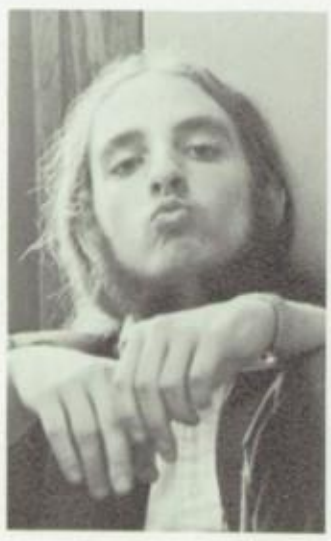
I was yours.

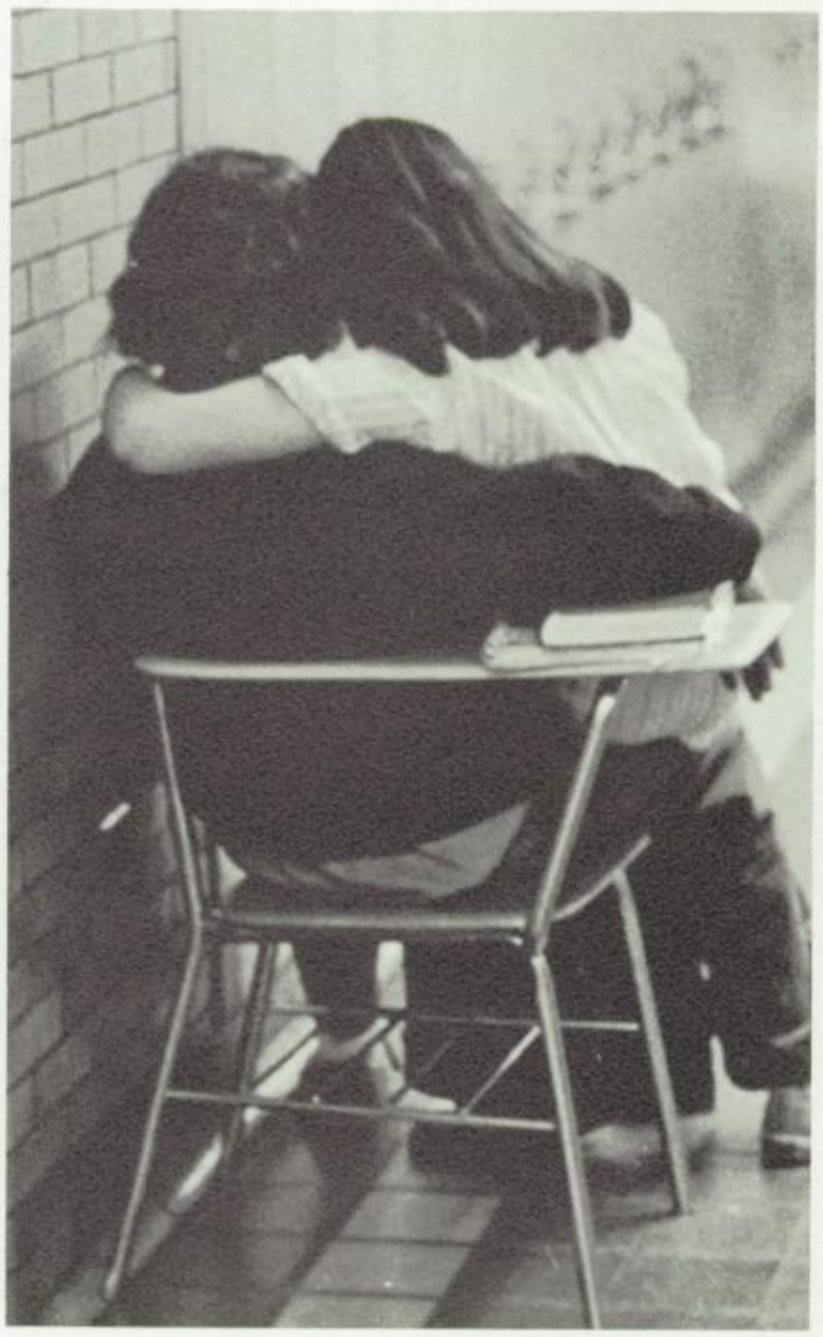
I hope you find a love

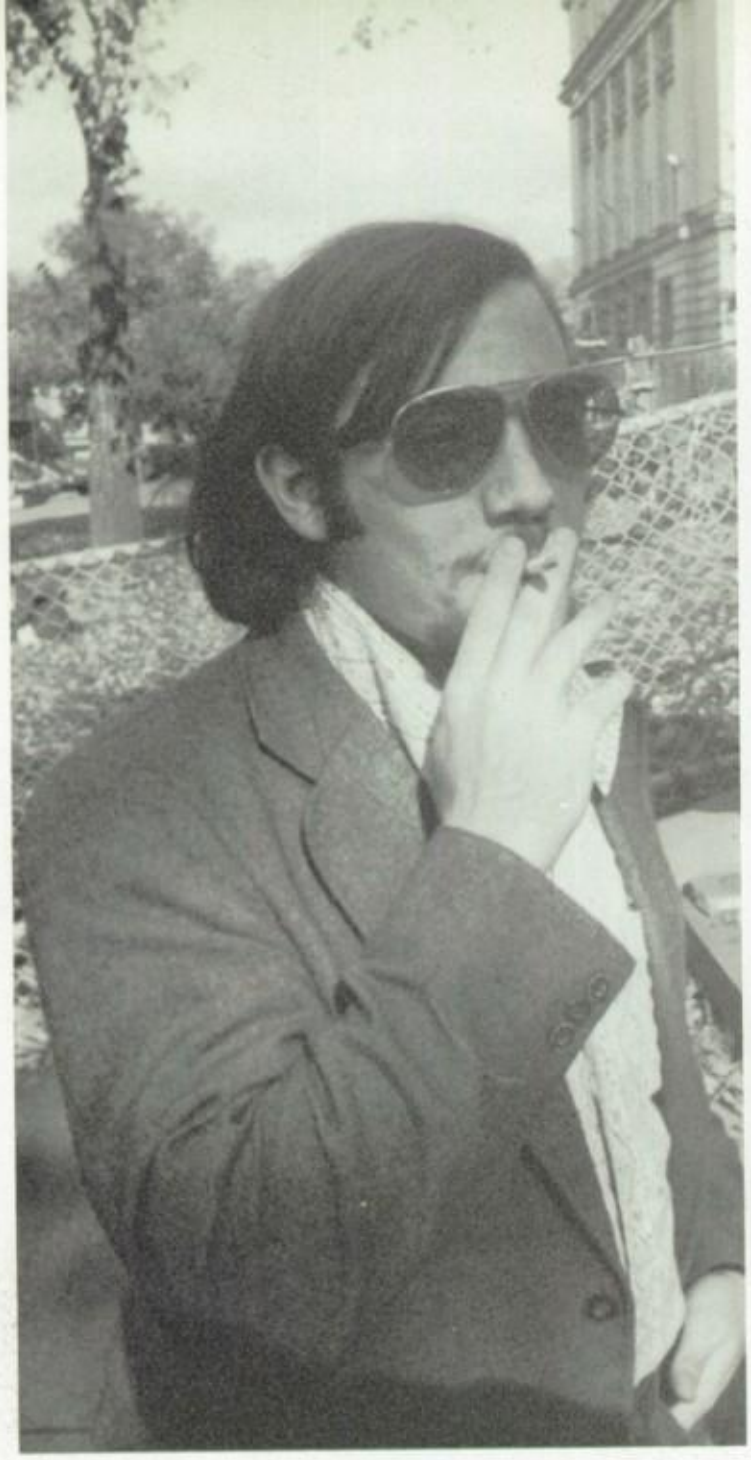
You were mine.

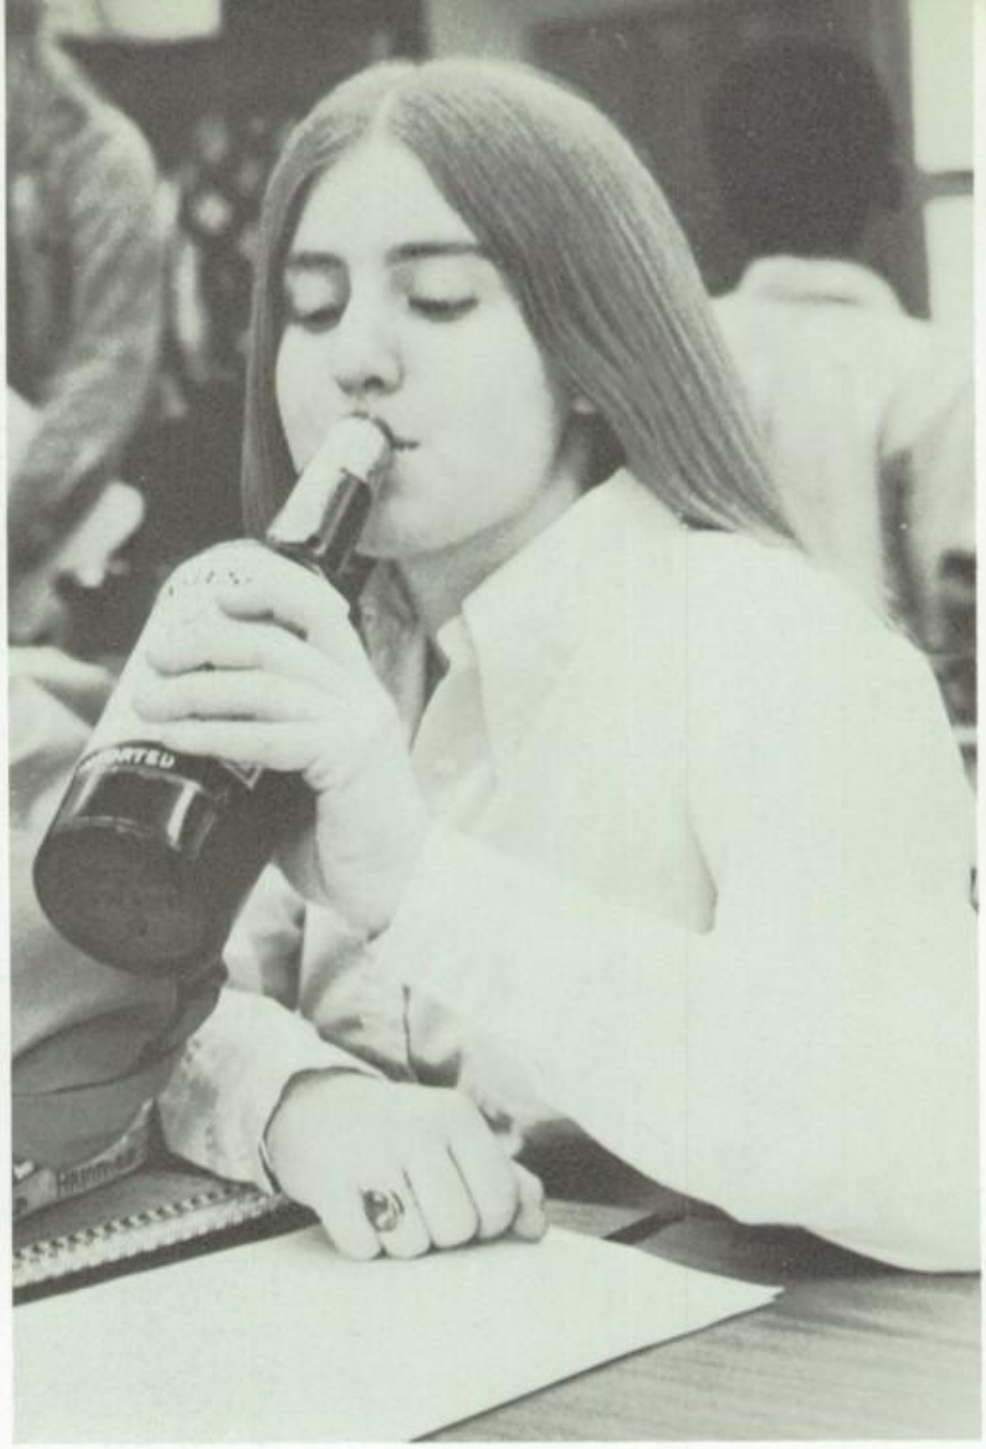


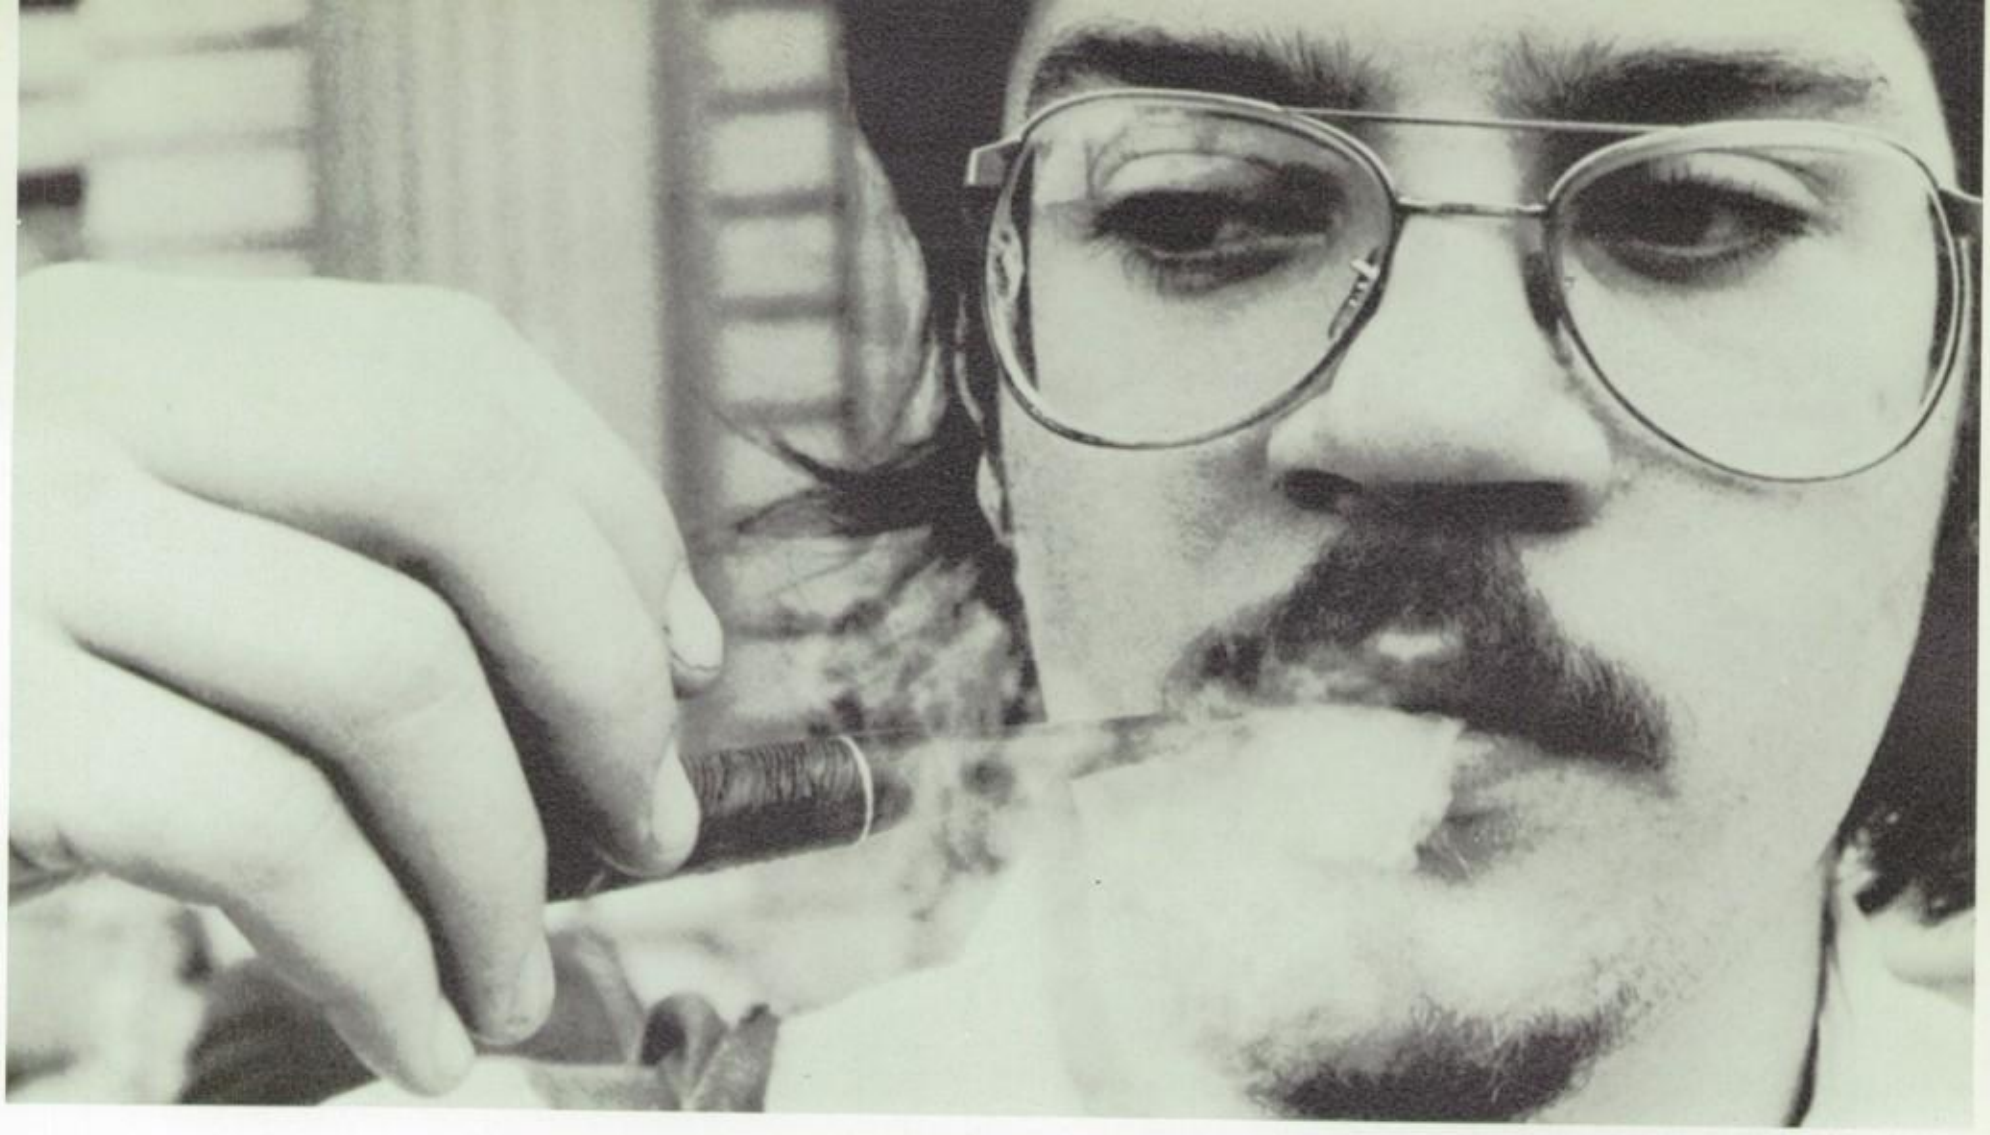




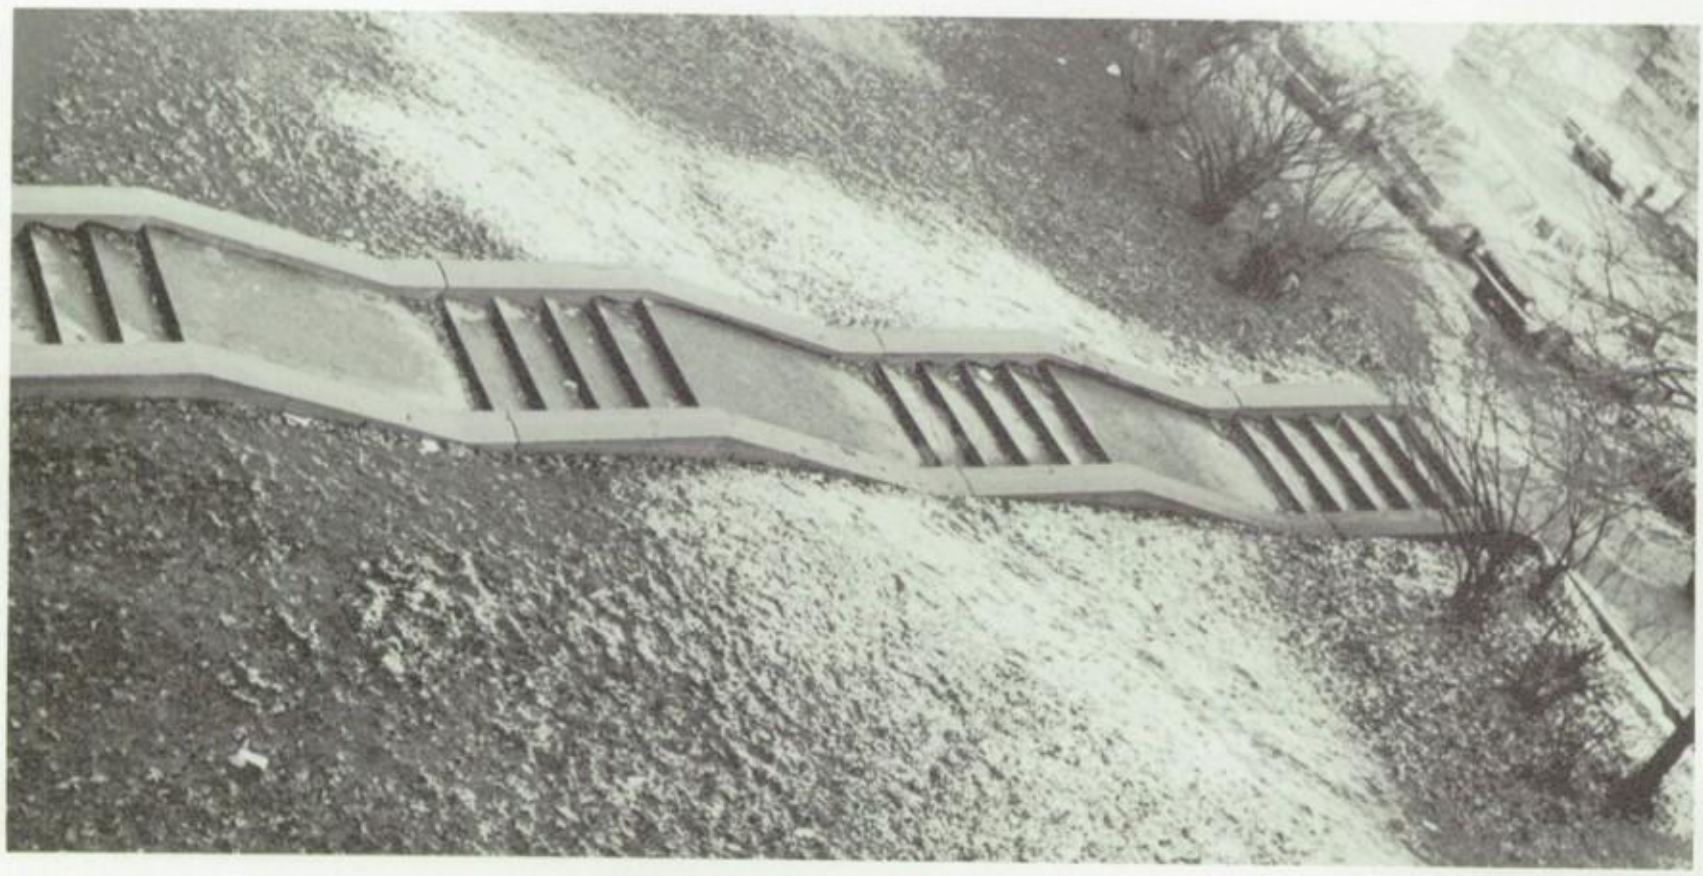








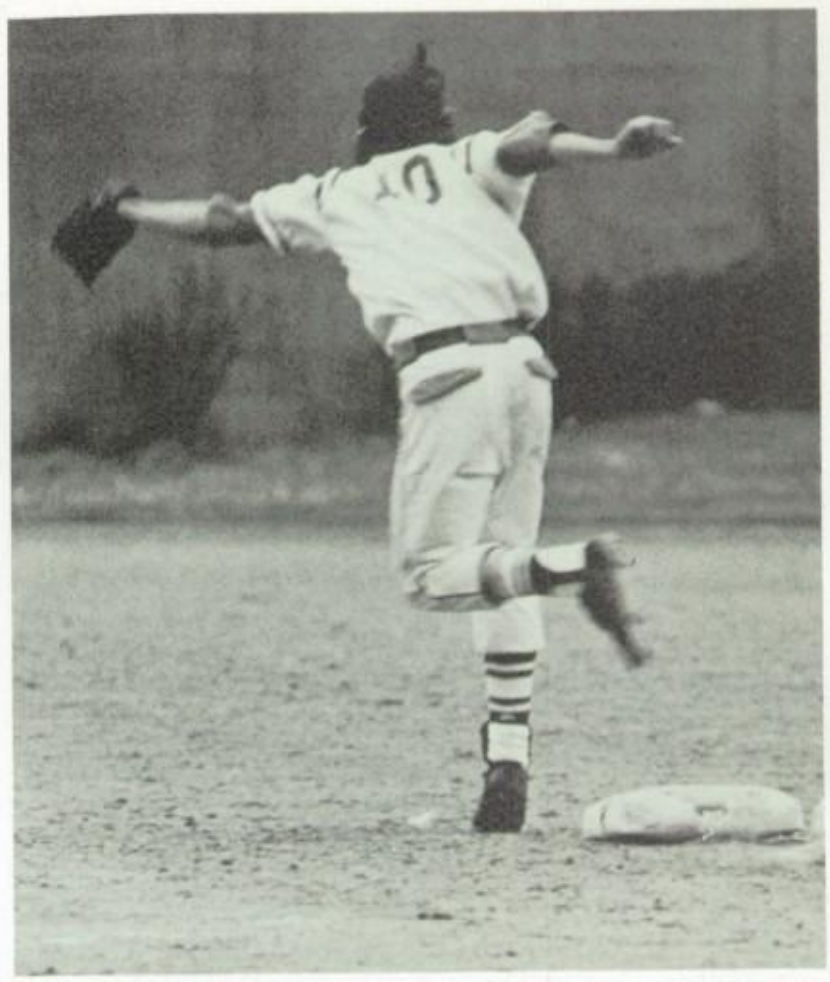
We're captive on the carousel of time



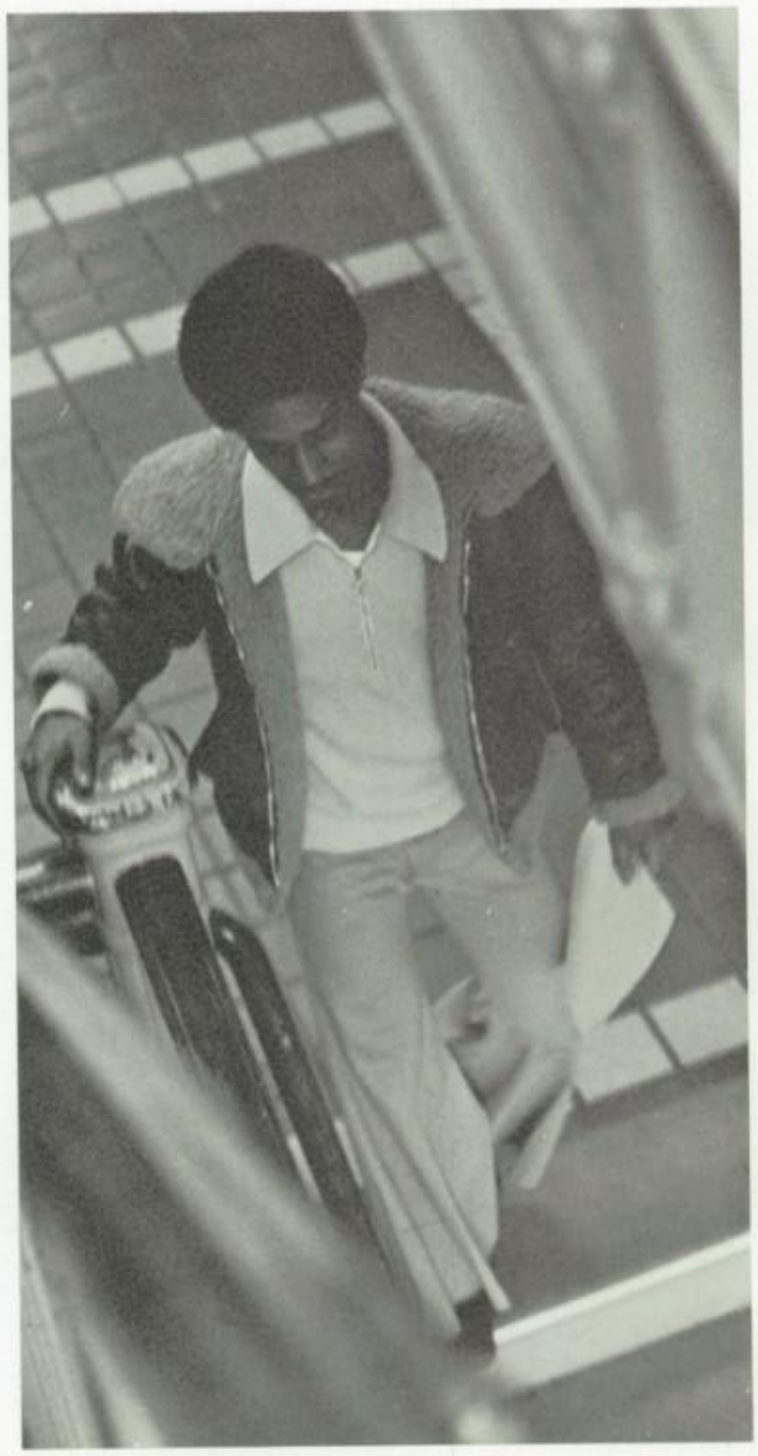
We can't return

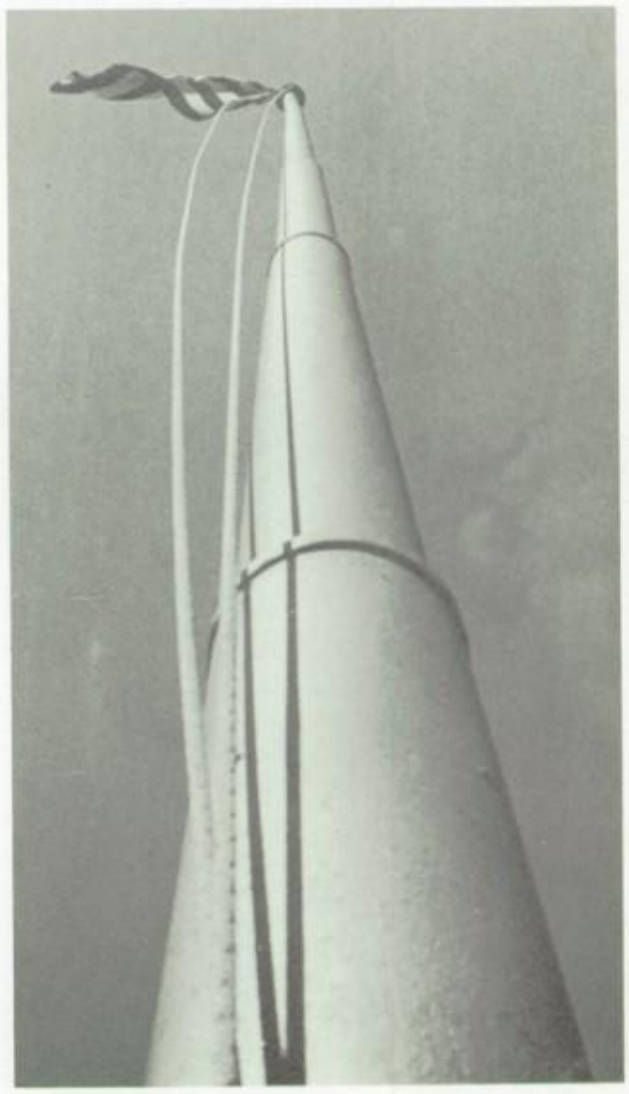
We can only look behind

From where we came



And go round and round and round in the circle game





In our fury and muddle

We act like children, cut off,

Fled from ourselves,

Bound by silly shame.

The years clump past

In their agony, waiting.

Not a single path leads back

To the garden of our youth.

We are stardust

We are golden

And we've got to get ourselves

Back to the garden.

The city is man

Not as we want him to be

But as he is.

The city is you

The city is me

Our own eyes that stare back

When we look and sometimes see

The faces in the city.
